Analyze your gaming skills. Latest Version: v1.5 The popular survival game, FarmVille by Zynga, has seen a recent update to v2.0.1, with a bunch of fixes and changes that seemed to be added to improve the game's feel and playability. As with all other Zynga games, this version should also enhance the user-experience, while remaining relatively easy to learn, play and navigate through. So, if you are wondering what's new in this latest FarmVille version, here are the changes included: New Feature: Interactive Event This can be activated from the game menu and will then list your experience in every farm activity. It will list things like the number of sheep, date of event, distance travelled and more. And, the most interesting part, you'll receive a reminder when you are close to reaching a goal! New Feature: Reveal Promotion Card This can be called from the News Feed and will show a promotion card of upcoming promotions, with information about their dates and rules. The card will be shown in your farm and will remain in place for 7 days. Improved Scrolling and Snapping You'll no longer have to scroll page by page to read the information in the card, as it will be all displayed in a single tab. And when you are following the News Feed, the information will be neatly ordered as if you were reading a magazine. Improved Power and Refill Fees Now, when you get close to the empty bar or other power or refill costs at any time, the symbols will be more visible and let you know how much more time you have to complete your task. Improved Touch Controls The touch controls have been enhanced and now keep working when you are playing a game. They will also maintain their functionality when the game is minimized, for a more user-friendly experience. Extended Ad Experience The experience of Zynga's new paid-for ad banners has been extended. Now, these ads will have a better effect on the news feed and are more integrated with the experience of playing the game. Improved Facebook Game There are some visual improvements to the FarmVille Facebook game, such as the ability to load in-game purchases more quickly, and enhancing the coin counter in the feed. Also, the game now has a new look overall, as users can now share their farm experiences through a redesigned gallery. Bug Fixes A few other visual issues and

For more information visit Hello, have you ever wanted to see how good you are at a game, regardless of what game you play? Well then this is for you, Cortex. Compete with your friends and see how you stack up. Track your gameplay and compare it to others so you know if you are improving. Or, if it is one of the toughest games out there, you can also brag about how you can beat the hardest levels in less than a minute. And if you want more details on how it works, read on! One more thing... Isn't there something you really want to be able to track? Something where you keep track of your pace, like your distance or speed at the gym, while lifting or running? Then this is for you too. With the help of crtx, a simple and cool app that runs on the top of your gaming programs, you can easily record your actions in real-time, while playing any of your favorite games. Just open the app, press record, play the game and track how long it takes for you to be idle. You can also be tracked while you perform actions, including the latency or the speed. In your history tab, you will find all of this data, even the actions you performed during your session, like the clicks and the keys you press. And with the help of the heatmap, you can see the tracks you take and how much space you cover while playing. And to round it all up, you can compare your performance over time with others, and easily prove how good you are at the game, even if you are a newbie or an expert. If you are one of the few in the world who doesn't like trial-and-error, don't worry. The

How many times have you boasted to your friends about your gaming skills and the high scores you managed to beat while playing games? And how many times did they believe you, unless they saw you playing or you showed them some proof? Well, now you can always have the evidence that will allow you to prove your amazing gaming skills and boast even more, with the help provided to you by crtx. Test your mettle crtx, or Cortex, is an application that allows you to track and record the actions you perform in real-time while you are playing games. The interface is designed to be simple and easy to use, with few buttons to click. But in terms of information displayed, you have almost everything you could ask for. There are a lot of interesting things you can keep track of in your dashboard, such as the duration of your gaming session and how long you were idle, and the app even provides an active ratio percentage. There are things that I couldn't imagine could be tracked while you are playing games, such as the distance you cover with your mouse, but also the speed, and both calculated in pixels. Even more, you can see the clicks and the keys that you press per minute in your recorded gaming sessions as well. How can you use all this data? Each gaming session you record is available to be analyzed in your History tab in the left menu. There, you can compare your gaming prowess and check if you have improved or gotten worse playing the same game. Or, you can even compare what type of actions and movements you tend to do in different types of games with the help of the clicks heatmap, which is a feature I really like. Your time to shine All you need now is to get in your seat and
