Preparation of nanofiber-modified superabsorbent polymer and its application to immobilization of silver nanoparticles. We prepared nanofiber-modified superabsorbent polymer by coating the surface of superabsorbent polymer with the nanofiber formed by electrospinning. The prepared nanofiber-modified superabsorbent polymer (NF-SAP) had a better adsorption capacity for silver ions than the unmodified superabsorbent polymer (SAP). Meanwhile, the NF-SAP exhibited better performance than the SAP in the removal of silver ions from solution. Then we immobilized silver nanoparticles on the NF-SAP using glutaraldehyde as the crosslinker. The average diameter of the immobilized silver nanoparticles was found to be approximately 10 nm. In addition, the synthesized NF-SAP/Ag hybrid particles had better adsorption capacity, and also better reusability for silver ions removal than the unmodified NF-SAP/Ag hybrid particles. The results showed that the prepared NF-SAP/Ag hybrid particles had potential application in the removal of silver ions from wastewater.

Activists planning a rally near the Jan. 26 primary election said they would stage a rally next week outside Democratic Mayor Walter De Feo's home in Queens. De Feo and Staten Island Councilwoman Debi Rose are the two Democrats in line for the April 26 special election for Queens borough president. The protests come after Councilwoman Rosie Mendez filed suit in Federal Court this week, seeking to have the City Council redistrict and move the special election. The election for borough president has been moved from Jan. 24 to April 26 after Mendez filed suit claiming the current district is unconstitutional. "De Feo's and Rose's political allies have a history of terrorizing people who run for office. We have seen that intimidation tactics are back in play, and people on the left are frightened," the group said in a statement. De Feo has endorsed Rose and Mayor Bill de
